WHANN'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE.

The unexampled success of this renowned manure during many years, has won for it a reputation which few other fertilizers can claim. It is very extensive in all parts of the country, especially in those parts of the South where cotton and corn are largely grown. So decided and positive have been its results on these important staples, that in many sections it is preferred to all other manures.

Whann's Raw Bone Super Phosphate

is prompt and active in its effects. It starts the young plant vigorously, and by furnishing a steady supply of nutriment during the period of its growth, brings the crop to a healthy maturity in time to escape the ravages of early frosts.

We offer this well-known fertilizer to our friends, confident that they will concur in the opinion of the leading planters of the South, that for Cotton and Corn it is unequalled.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Surplus of piety can be profitably invested to-day.

McNider, the laughist, now representing a Philadelphia house, is in the city.

W. P. Weatherell, Esq., has been appointed a Notary Public for this city.

Regular services will be held as usual at Christ's Episcopal Church to-day.

The sun came out brightly yesterday morning and brought lots of crinoline out with it.

Cheap and good envelopes are not always found readily. Try those kept by L. Branson at his bookstore in Raleigh.

Our youngsters are just now turning their attention to aerial navigation. In other and plainer words they are flying kites.

The base-ball mania is about to rage again in this community. Some of our young men have organized a club with thirty-six members.

The impression is that the bill for the franking of documents printed by Congress will pass by a large majority, and that it will be an entering wedge to further franking privileges.

The Raleigh Gazette received yesterday the first installment of guano, some 800 bags, for distribution among its members. This guano was manufactured expressly for the Gazette.

Simpson, the popular Druggist, has a full line of the choicest garden and flower seeds which he has just received from the most reliable seedsmen. Go in time and get a supply for spring planting.

We are pleased to see our friend C. T. Morel again calling attention through our columns to his admirably selected stock of first-class groceries. Consumers can always depend upon getting the best goods that can be had, at a very reasonable price.

Notwithstanding his heavy loss by fire, Mr. Thos. Stanley, of Newbern, continues the shipment of grain. Mr. Stanley suffered a severe loss on the night of the 19th inst., but Mr. S. is too enterprising a man to be put to a standstill by his notice elsewhere.

C. H. Guild, Esq., agent for the large tobacco house of Messrs. G. W. Gail & Co., of Baltimore, is at the Yarrowburg House. There are but few men that are better and more favorably known to our business population than Mr. Guild.

We direct especial attention to the announcements made in to-day's issue by Morel's popular Fayetteville street heavy and fancy grocer. He keeps always on hand the best of articles to be found in his line, and his terms are as liberal as can be obtained anywhere else.

WICKET-GATE.—Rev. L. Branson will preach at the Wicket-Gate appointment (at Mr. Green's residence, West of the Fair Grounds), to-day at 11 o'clock. The citizens are cordially invited to attend.

DIALOGUE.—A gentleman, meeting a member of the recently adjourned Legislature on yesterday, remarked: "Othello's occupation is gone!" The law-maker, continuing to quote from the same drama, replied: "Yes—but we have done the State some service!" By adjourning," added No. 1. They parted.

REVIEW OF THE COTTON MARKET FOR THE WEEK.—Our cotton market for the past week may be characterized as having been quiet and offish. We give the quotations for each day: Monday 14 and quiet; Tuesday quiet at 14; Wednesday 14, fancy lots 14; Thursday 14, fancy lots 14; Friday 14, demand at 13.

The receipts for the week reached about 700 bales.

"OUR LIVING AND OUR DEAD."—Col. S. D. Pool, Editor of "Our Living and Our Dead," having finished his duties as Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, will wait on our citizens to-morrow in the interest of his paper. It is well known that it is the intention of Col. P. to give a complete history of the part taken by North Carolina troops in the war of independence, and he has succeeded even beyond his own expectations. "Our Living and Our Dead" should be in every North Carolina family.

LECTURE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE OXFORD ORPHAN ASYLUM.—Major J. W. Moore will deliver his admirable and popular lecture, upon General R. E. Lee, at the Hall of the House of Representatives to-morrow (Monday) evening for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. Tickets can be procured at the book-stores at 50 cents apiece. We take it for granted that there is no need of urging our people to patronize this entertainment. The fact that the proceeds are to be devoted to the benefit of helpless orphans is a sufficient inducement to secure the attendance of a large crowd, to say nothing of the ability of Maj. Moore as an entertaining lecturer.

BRADLEY'S SEA FOWL GUANO.

Mr. Geo. T. Stenach, of this city, has just returned from a business trip to Charleston, S. C., where he interviewed several of the large fertilizer manufacturers of that city, in regard to the quality of the article, and at the same time placing before each manufacturer the recent law passed by the General Assembly in relation to commercial fertilizers, which was intended to prevent fraud in the same by means of a very scrutinizing chemical test.

Mr. Stenach informs us that after due consideration and examination, he effected a business agency with Mr. Bradley, the manufacturer of the celebrated Sea Fowl Guano, advertisement of which will appear in the News of Tuesday. Mr. Bradley was candid in declaring to Mr. S. that he approved of the law, as he was more than anxious that all of his goods should be subjected to a chemical test. Look out for his advertisement.

MAYOR'S COURT.—Saturday, Feb. 21st, 1874.—Before His Honor, Wesley Whitaker, Mayor.

The Court opened at 10 o'clock; trouble commenced at 10.

The first character that appeared upon the stage was Moses Clarke, (not unknown to our Boards), in the popular farce entitled "disorderly conduct." He closed his performance with a familiar song to the tune of $5.

James Hall and Sam Pearce in the duet of "drunk and down," made a most capital hit, and the orchestra furnished the music requiring $2 each for extra services. The performance closed with the recitation of Mr. Thomas Harrington, late of England, whose excellent recitation of a "stranger in strange land" was truly affecting. He also very feelingly portrayed the evil consequences of stimulating drinks, while his descriptive lines of "no live a year in this State, before going to North." He was born on the Island of Barbados, in 1795, and was consequently 78 years of age.

We would be glad to give in this notice a sketch of the life and history of Dr. Mason, but the immense task requires the talent of an other head than ours.

Dr. Mason has been for thirty-four years Rector of Christ (Episcopal) Church, occupying the pulpit of this church on Christmas Day, in the year 1840, for the first time. At the time of his election to the rectorship of the church, he was President of Newark College, Delaware, but he had been in this State, before going to North. He was born on the Island of Barbados, in 1795, and was consequently 78 years of age.

He was not only an able and effective minister, but one of the purest and best of his profession; his private life was as exemplary as his public life was successful.

He had been in very feeble health for several years, but the cause of his death was from over exertion while working in his garden a few days ago. The day was warm and pleasant, but cloudy. He went out to set out cabbage plants without his hat, and before he could get to the house, was caught in it, from the effects of which pneumonia ensued causing his death.

His funeral will take place Tuesday morning.

Court adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday.

BUSINESS.—Last night, at 11 o'clock, we were aroused in our office by a loud voice on the street, and naturally supposing that a fight or foot race was on the tapis, curiosity led us to the scene of action. But imagine our great mistake as we emerged from our office door to find that the loud voice proceeded from the court room. We went over, and at this peculiarly unseasonable hour, found Judge Tourgee on the bench, a jury in the box, the clerk and sheriff in their places, and Hon. T. C. Fuller, delivering an able argument in a cause then and there pending. We rather thought this business, the like of which we had never before witnessed.

The case that was being heard was Richard J. Holt and wife vs. Lorenzo Franks and wife et al., in which Messrs. Fuller & Ashe appeared for the plaintiffs, and Judge Fowle and Messrs. Battle & Son for the defendants.

At 12 o'clock the case was given to the jury, but as we do not work after that hour on Saturday night, ("mother says we mustn't) our report necessarily closes here, good night.

OUR CHURCHES TO-DAY.—Divine services will be held at the following Churches to-day, (Sunday) Strangers and others in the city are earnestly and cordially invited to attend. Gentlemenly ushers will be present to conduct visitors to pews which are always free.

The Pastors of the different churches will please notify us on Saturdays of any changes that may occur in their pulpits.

"LINES WRITTEN AT POINT LOOKOUT." Several years ago the following beautiful lines, given below, were published by the papers of this city, but happening yesterday to come across them in an exchange we could not refrain from reproducing them.

Aside from the beauty of the poem and the deep pathos portrayed in every line, a tender chord will be touched in the heart of every reader who knew and properly appreciated the author—the late Captain George M. Whiting, of this city. They seem to speak from that honored grave in the Confederate Cemetery, where this true man and brave soldier sleeps.

They are the reflex of the noble impulses of a heart that knew no guile in success, brave in the hour of trial and proud in the humility of defeat.

The lines in question were written at Point Lookout, where the writer first heard the news of the surrender of Lee, as he was on his way home after an imprisonment of two years and a half at Johnston's Island, where he contracted the germ of the disease which consigned him to an early grave.

Potomac! oh, Potomac! I am standing on thy shore.

Thy waters watching slowly as they pass to come no more.

And I think of faded glories that have passed with the years.

Years that have flown forever—and my heart it melts in tears.

Upon thy flowery borders, close by the rocky bed,

Where blood has gushed forth, as true patriots' eyes shed,

Thou old South Carolina, with her thousand others brave,

And Anderson, a Pettigrew and Branch their life-blood gave.

I crossed thy clear blue waters last, up death the mountain's shade.

Where thy flowing was so shallow no use less blood to border.

"Blue bonnets o'er the border" was the order of the day;

The cross was striking brightly and men eager for the fray.

That was our noblest army, and our hearts were filled with pride;

Alas for those fallen—can it be they've vanished?

But then no ill-reverence would have dared our bosoms fill.

For Lee, the peerless, led us, with our Long-street, Ewell, Hill.

Two years have passed almost since then, while 'twas in prison camp,

And hope that then I cherished, Fate says must be resigned.

Here where the waves lost are, wind the waves of Chesapeake?

I hear thy "sundered" and the crimson waves cry cheer.

Potomac! oh, Potomac! ye who have well known the cost,

Is there no hand to save us or to give us only peace to dwell?

My heart is yearning sadly, as I stand upon thy shore.

For ship that sailed so bravely, now wrecked on Severnmore!

"Gen. B was killed and Gen. A. and P. received their death wounds on the banks of the Potomac."

"Point Lookout is at the mouth of the Potomac where it falls into the Chesapeake."

JURISDICTION OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—One of the most important acts passed by the late General Assembly was the one entitled "A bill to amend chapter 32 of the Assembly, known as Battle's Revisal, which chapter is entitled Crimes and Punishments," and chapter 33, Battle's Revisal, entitled, "Criminal Proceedings."

We regret that our space is not sufficient to copy the bill entire, and only propose to detail a few of its most important provisions. The act is on file in the office of the Secretary of State, where justices and other persons interested can get a certified copy on application by sending the small fees charged by the office.

The preamble of the bill reads: Whereas great expense is incurred by counties, and sometimes unnecessary hardships are imposed upon persons charged with petty offences by reason of the long time between their imprisonment upon the charge and a regular term of the Superior Court of the county. And Whereas, it is desirable for these and other reasons to increase the present jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace to hear and fully determine criminal charges and actions for petty offences within the Constitutional limits; Now therefore the General Assembly do enact, etc.

The bill provides the Justices of the Peace shall have final jurisdiction of the following misdemeanors with the penalties hereunto attached: Unlawful fences, punishment not to exceed fifty dollars fine, or imprisonment for one month.

Fornication and adultery, penalty as above.

Hunting by fire light, penalty as above.

Malicious injury to real property, where the injury exceeds five dollars, penalty and fine as above.

Punishment for assault, where the assault was without intent to kill and when no deadly weapon was used, and no serious damage done, and when the party injured shall make complaint before a Justice of the Peace, etc. Penalty same as above.

Failing to work on public roads, penalty same as above.

Persons forbidden not to enter lands, penalty same as above.

Hunting on the Sabbath, penalty same as above.

Husband guilty of misdemeanor for abandoning family, penalty same as above, with a provision to strike out the words "or both in the discretion of the Judge of the Superior Court before whom the case is tried."

Fined or imprisoned, for not providing for his family. Amended the same as above.

Vagrancy, penalty fifty dollars fine or imprisonment for one month, with the following amendment: "And it shall be cognizable only before a Justice of the Peace of the county where it is committed, who may release the party on his giving a recognizance with or without security for his industrious and peaceable deportment for one year or less from the date thereof; or may also impose on him a punishment not to exceed that above mentioned."

Chapter 33, of Battle's Revisal, is also amended so as to give Justices of the Peace the power to hear, try and determine in the manner prescribed in the chapter on criminal actions, or the offences described in articles 20, 43, 46, 85, 102, 111, 116, 117, 119, 120 and 139, of chapter 32, Battle's Revisal, when by said chapter 32, as amended by this act, or by any other law now in force, or which may hereafter come into force, the punishment cannot exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for one month.

Chapter 33 is further amended by striking out the following words: "That the offense was committed in his township."

The bill further provides that all cases now pending in the Superior Courts for the above offenses, be transferred to the Justices' Courts.

OUR TRAVELLING MAN.—Our travelling man has recently been "swinging around the circle" from Nash County to Jackson, Northampton county. He particularly in love with the traditions of the old town of Halifax, and in a somewhat lengthy communication narrates a few, but as they are already familiar to all of our readers we will not spare space to them. He says that the sum was all the money he had, and he was in a predicament, and in a somewhat lengthy communication narrates a few, but as they are already familiar to all of our readers we will not spare space to them.

Our critical traveller gives his impressions of Jackson, which he considers as a very pretty looking country town, and is particularly pleased with the hospitality of its citizens and the excellent feeling which seems to prevail among them. But his morals are somewhat shocked at the large amount of gambling and the sharp tricks practiced in the trade in horse-flesh. He relates the following incident:

"I offered to sell a horse to an individual at an exceedingly low price—$30. He swore he would give no more than $75, that sum was all the brute was worth. Happening shortly afterwards to go into the stables, I found theascal offering to sell my animal at $150, swearing that he was the best and fastest horse upon the ground."

The Oconeeche section is highly complimented by our correspondent. He speaks in high terms of the richness of its soil and its productiveness in grain, cotton and other staples.

We regret that the space at our disposal in this issue does not admit of the full publication of our correspondent's interesting letter.

EXCITEMENT IN CHURCH.—Great excitement was created in the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Leesburg, yesterday morning. Rev. Mr. Forsythe had announced his text and had preached about five minutes, when he suddenly paused, and then crying out, "I'm dying! Oh! I'm dying!" fell back into a seat. The greatest confusion at once ensued among the congregation, some going into the pulpit to the preacher's assistance, and others running after physicians. Dr. Mott, who was found in the Episcopal Church, soon arrived, however, and having prescribed the proper restoratives, his patient was taken home, and this morning was reported to be in a greatly improved condition.—Alex. Gazette, 16th.

On Thursday night Newbern was visited by a destructive fire. Perry's warehouse was destroyed, together with its contents, cotton, merchandise and many articles of value. Stanley's granary and a small adjoining saloon were also consumed. The loss is estimated at something over $11,000.
